

OACP Presents a Two Day Conference and Annual Meeting

Intermediate Interdisciplinary Training to Build our Teams in the Collaborative Process

September 24 & 25, 2010
Post Oak Lodge, Tulsa, Oklahoma

On September 24th and 25th OACP will present two legacies of the Collaborative Movement:

Pauline Tesler and Dr. Peggy Thompson

Pauline Tesler is a renowned Harvard trained Collaborative attorney and the author of Collaborative Law: Achieving Effective Resolution in Divorce without Litigation,

Dr. Peggy Thompson is a co-founder of the International Academy of Collaborative Professionals and of Collaborative Divorce Trainings.

Together they authored: Collaborative Divorce: The Revolutionary New Way to Restructure Your Family, Resolve Legal Issues, and Move on with Your Life.

Both of these phenomenal women have been instrumental in the formation of the collaborative movement throughout the world.

How do you work collaboratively on a Team?

What are the roles and the limitations of the individual Team members?

How do you work together for the clients to have the best collaborative experience?

Would you like to increase your Collaborative clientele?

Do you believe in the concept but just don't know how to get it started?

Would you like to get on board while we have the chance to really move the Collaborative community forward in Tulsa?

Let's raise the bar and make collaborative divorce not just an option, but the preferred choice in our communities. Many cities have done this successfully. These trainers have the knowledge to take us to a highest level of practice. Whether you are on a Team, or simply have a passion about the collaborative process but haven't gotten your practice off the ground, then this is for you.

Don't miss this once in a lifetime opportunity to learn from the best collaborative professionals in the industry. This is international training coming to you, rather than you paying to go to it. OACP can only afford to subsidize this once, and here it is.....

Synopsis: This advanced two-day course will teach attendees the team aspects of interdisciplinary collaborative practice. Interdisciplinary collaborative practice gives clients the benefit of expertise, assistance and support from the most qualified professional using a team approach. This will address working with your team, defining roles and expectations, determining team management and team building skills.

Who should attend?

- This is an intermediate course, so the participants should have basic collaborative training.
- This is for all members of the collaborative team i.e. Attorneys, Coaches, Child Development Specialists, and Financial Neutrals.

Course Content: This two-day course will cover team building aspects of the interdisciplinary model of collaborative practice, and will include:

- Process options for clients: informed decision-making regarding the process and the team approach.
- The role of each collaborative professional in a team (lawyer, divorce coach, child specialist and financial specialist).
- The process of working with a team on an interdisciplinary collaborative case, from beginning to completion.
- The strengths and challenges of team work with other professionals.
